Meditation for the 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time Year A

Jesus the teacher encourages us to persevere in faith even in challenging circumstances. Christ's parables make this purpose-driven point - God in his providence will use even the apparent evil that attends to us in life to some perfecting purpose. In other words out of our littleness, our emptiness, our nothingness, God's greatness will flourish in an astonishing way. From today's gospel, the parables of Jesus show that our God is a God who takes care of everyone, of every situation, of every circumstance. In this providential care, God shows his might precisely when the perfection of his power is believed.

In our daily lives, it can be challenging to pursue in faith and charity, and in kindness when dealing with people who appear to be the opponent - mean, vengeful, and thoughtless. Nevertheless, the Spirit comes to the aid of our weakness. We can cave in to our weakness out of despair... or we can pray with faith. The Apostle Paul reinforces the premise of Jesus to search our hearts and to know the intention of the Holy Spirit to intercede for us according to God's will.

Moreover, Jesus reminds us that it is still possible to bear fruit under trying conditions and that even the small seed of faith yields abundant fruit. Today's readings ponder the mystery of God's power to be present wherever we are. The Book of Wisdom presupposes that the power of God is exercised with justice and leniency. The Apostle Paul then shows us that this exercise of power comes from the Holy Spirit who helps us to pray.

In the gospel, Jesus teaches his disciples about the kingdom of Heaven through a series of simple yet sophisticated parables, and he does this to show the necessity of repentance for our sins. In essence Jesus is alluding to Psalm 54.

See, I have God for my help.
The Lord sustains my soul.
I will sacrifice to you with willing hearts and praise your name, for the Lord is good and forgiving.
