Meditations for the 33rd Sunday in Ordinary Time Year B

Scripture proclaims it, and the Church teaches it that the end of the world is coming. Let us be prepared. No one knows when the world will end, but if we wait patiently thinking that we are prepared for it, our preparations may be futile and too late. More importantly when we seek forgiveness and allow God's mercy to pierce our hearts we are preparing and living for the Lord.

If we live for God, then we will live on forever when the Lord returns. Choosing not to live for God could - and indeed will result in disgrace when the end comes. The Lord does not desire that for us - God loves us and wants us to be with him; therefore, the predicted end of the world is also a free, open, and generous invitation. Take hold of it!

Life is often difficult. Yet in the midst of darkness and distress we should take comfort in the presence of Jesus Christ. As the prophet Daniel speaks of Michael, as a guardian angel rising out of the depths of God's mercy, ultimately we are availed the power and the glory of Jesus Christ our redeemer, the one who leads us to the righteousness of God.

Let us seek here and now the intercession of the Archangel Michael as we live life with faith, hope, and love. The death and resurrection of Jesus brings the fullness of joy of divine providence. For indeed, the single offering by Christ has made us perfect forever. By his once and for all offering on the cross, Christ consecrates each of us to accept God's generous invitation to be consecrated through the power of God's mercy.

Vocation View 11/17/24

St Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle! We are living in a time of great spiritual warfare. The prophet Daniel calls it "a time unsurpassed in distress." That sounds like our world. Who will join the ranks of God's spiritual army, defending the vulnerable and combatting evil? If you're ready to answer this call Contact Fr Albino to learn more.
