A Spiritual Meditation for the 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time - Year C

The main themes of today's readings are hospitality and the generosity of mercy. "He who does justice will live in the presence of the Lord." The readings are a testimony of God's goodness through generosity. The story of Abraham and Sarah welcoming the three strangers is a classic example of desert hospitality. To be inhospitable in a harsh environment was considered from a Hebrew perspective one of the greatest sins that one could commit. And as a response to Abraham's generosity, the three strangers predict that God's promise would be fulfilled. Then they tell the elderly couple that would have a son by the next year.

From blessing Abraham and Sarah with their long-awaited child to assuring Martha that she need not worry, the Lord knows our deepest needs and responds to them. May we also model this compassionate response in all our relationships.

As a pastoral reflection, what do I consider true, authentic hospitality? What is most difficult for me to share - money, talent, time?

In the second reading, the Apostle Paul gives a subtle psychological spin on God's generosity. "The mystery hidden from ages and generations past has now been manifested in his holy ones." We as humans cannot even begin to know the fullness of God's plan for us. And yet, says Paul, through the death and resurrection of Christ we have learned how much God loves us and the glory that he has prepared for us.

In the gospel, Martha becomes frustrated with her sister Mary for not helping her to serve Jesus. Jesus' responds that Mary has chosen the better part. Moreover, Mary's response shows us, "Blessed are they who have kept the word with a generous heart." Our generous hearts will also produce a harvest based upon a loving relationship with the Lord. Generosity also opens us for us the suffering of Jesus Christ for us. And the suffering of Christ and our own participation in and understanding of is that which help us to be cognizant of God's limitless love and generosity.

THE HOLY FATHER'S INTENTION FOR

JULY: FOR FORMATION IN DISCERNMENT
LET US PRAY THAT WE MIGHT AGAIN LEARN HOW TO DISCERN, TO KNOW HOW TO CHOOSE PATHS OF LIFE, AND REJECT EVERYTHING THAT LEADS US AWAY FROM CHRIST AND THE GOSPEL.
